Angi Whittaker-Pion's practice focuses on litigation involving multiple parties, multiple claims, and allocation of liability among related corporate entities.

She is actively involved in the day-to-day mass torts defense nationally for a publicly traded manufacturing client - coordinating and managing litigation strategy discovery, experts, company witnesses, documents, and trial preparation. She has conducted many forensic product-line investigations relating to claims arising out of products manufactured many decades before, often by divested or now non-existent companies. Angi defends asbestos-related personal injury and wrongful death suits, as well as mass torts alleging occupational exposure to silica, benzene, nickel, lead and perchlorate. Outside the products liability area, Angi's practice encompasses a range of complex civil matters, including nationwide class action litigation and business disputes.

Angi was named one of Maryland's "Top 100" Women in 2012 and was named to The Daily Record's Successful Before 40/VIP List in 2014.
