The Health Care Group at Miles & Stockbridge offers a strong combination of industry experience and substantive legal knowledge to help clients navigate the pitfalls related to health care-specific regulations and move forward in a constantly changing business environment.

We advise a large segment of the health care industry, including integrated health systems, hospitals, academic medical centers, large and small physician specialty groups, ambulatory surgery centers, hospices, continuing care retirement facilities, skilled nursing facilities and patient assistance organizations. We also are well versed in the acquisition of health care businesses, the financing of these projects and the regulatory nuances of transactions involving health care businesses. Likewise, our lawyers have decades of experience as defense counsel in False Claims Act litigation and white collar matters and investigations.
